

STN Fundraising Script — “The Comedic Version”

Hey everyone! It's me, [Your Name] — your friendly neighborhood broadcaster, caffeine-fueled storyteller, and occasional tripod wrangler.

Big news! Our broadcast team has been invited to the Student Television Network Convention in sunny Tampa, Florida! That's right — Tampa! Land of palm trees, humidity, and opportunity!

This is basically the Super Bowl of student broadcasting — but with more cameras, fewer concussions, and slightly more coffee.

We'll be joining thousands of other students who also spend way too much time editing videos at 2 a.m. It's going to be amazing!

Now, here's the thing — getting to Tampa costs money. Plane tickets, hotels, snacks — and trust me, broadcast kids can eat.

So I'm asking for your help. Every little bit counts — even the change between your car seats. It all adds up!

Your support helps me chase this incredible opportunity to learn, create, and probably make at least one video about why Florida humidity is a character in itself.

I can't wait to come back with new skills, stories, and maybe a tan (if I survive outside the editing room).

Seriously, thank you so much for helping me get to Tampa. You're not just supporting me — you're supporting future news anchors, storytellers, and caffeine addicts everywhere.

So please, help me get to Tampa. Because let's face it — Florida is waiting, and so are the stories!

■ Support [Your Name] and the CHSTV Team – Every Laugh and Every Dollar Counts!

■ Thank you for helping us tell our stories... and for keeping us fed on the road!